- ☐ 1. The following observations were made at Schoenwalde airfield from 22 March to 27 March 1953:

22 March: At 11 a.m., no air activity was observed in spite of fair weather. Two twin-engine aircraft were parked in the southern portion of the field.

23 and 24 March: No air activity was observed.

25 March: At 10 a.m., a PO-2 was flying circles over the field. The plane landed at 1 p.m., after making some intermediate landings. From 7 to 8:30 p.m., there was night flying by 2 twin-engine planes. When the planes took off and landed, the runway was lighted by searchlights. Another searchlight was believed to be in operation at Staaken airfield.

26 March: From 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. the runway was lighted. However, no flying was observed.

- 25X1X 27 March: No air activity was observed.

- ☐ 2. From 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on 27 March, no air activity was observed at the field. Ten twin-engine planes with double rudder assemblies were parked at the field, 6 of which were in front of the hangar. A twin-engine plane with single rudder assembly was also seen.
